This morning in port of Kotor has sailed AIDAbella, which is the second ship of AIDA Cruises operator that had visited Kotor after AIDAvita last year's arrival. This cruiser with a specific design has arrived from port Corfu around 9 AM and will sail at about 7 PM for Split. On board are 2127 passengers and 595 crew members.

She was build at Meyer Werft shipyard in Papenburg, Germany, she is a sister ship to AIDAdiva and AIDAluna. She is 251.89 meters long while BRT is 69203. The name AIDAbella was chosen after a competition to name the new ship, which was meant to signify how beautiful the ship is. The ship features 1025 passenger cabins, many with balconies. Amidships is a circular, glass walled and roofed Theatrium in the center of the ship which can be used as a nightclub.
